TO COMMISSIONERS. GUIDERS AND RANGERS

JUNE 23rd 1975: This will be a great day in the history of our Association. For the first time for 25 years, we are the hostess country for the triennial Conference of the World Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts. On that day, as Honorary Chairman of the Conference, I will be welcoming on your behalf, some 300 guests from most of the 91 member organisations of the World Association.

I wish there were room and opportunity for all of you to visit Sussex University and meet the delegates, but unfortunately this just cannot be. However, with our UK delegation, Aides and Staff; Observers; some Brownies, Guides and Guiders who will welcome delegates on their arrival, some Rangers helping with parts of the programme, and Guides forming a choir at the Act of Worship, as well as all those at the Orbit Camp, we will be as fully represented as is possible for the Hostess Country.

I thank everyone for the interest shown through the wonderful gifts for our guests, which are in production all over the United Kingdom; through the Brownie World Venture; through the Guide World Conference Challenge; and the Ranger 'Wombling' events. I hope that all Brownies, Guides and Rangers will be having the special badges, which are available, to show that they have taken part in a World Conference activity.

Now I am suggesting at the request of the Executive Committee that each one of you wears her Promise Badge or a World Badge wherever you are, and whatever you may be wearing, on 23rd June, so that everyone will know how proud and happy we are to be welcoming our visitors to this country on that day.

With every good wish,

A. Parke Bowles

Ann Parker Bowles Chief Commissioner

Background to World Conference

ONCE every three years, the members of the World Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts meet in Conference to exchange ideas and experiences and to consider the policy of Girl Guiding and Girl Scouting.

Organisations which are either Full or Associate Members are each entitled to appoint two delegates, and Mrs Jessica Blooman and I will be representing the

Dr Kathryn Benson-Evans

United Kingdom in this capacity this year. In addition, Full Member Organisations may also appoint official visitors, the number being determined by the size of the National Girl Guide and Girl Scout Organisation.

The United Kingdom is entitled to five visitors, and Mrs R Vaughan Cox, Dr

Mrs Jessica Blooman Deputy Chief Commissioner of the GGA and Chairman of Finance Committee, Principal
Probation Officer for Berkshire.

Our Delegation

Dr Helen Laird Elected member of GGA Executive Committee, Research Scientist in the Leukaemia Unit at Glasgow University.

Mrs Avril Lyne
Assistant International Adviser
for Anglia Region, Division Commissioner for South Lincoln, Member of the Lincolnshire
Committee of Voluntary Service Overseas.

Helen Laird, Mrs Avril Lyne, Miss Mary Ramsay and Miss Barbara Ryrie will be completing our delegation, with Miss Jill Campbell as a reserve. We have been appointed by the Executive Committee from nominations submitted to them, and are representative of the different aspects to be found within our organisation. Four of us, Mrs Blooman, Dr Laird, Miss Ryrie and myself have been privileged to represent you at previous World Conferences, and so have some experience of the methods of work and responsibilities.

Miss Barbara Ryrie Programme/Training Adviser to GGA, District Commissioner for Wilston, Wiltshire.

It will be strange not to have our Chief Commissioner, Mrs Derek Parker Bowles, as our leader this time. We shall miss her leadership, but wish her every success as Honorary Chairman of the Conference. She is, of course, helping us at all stages of our preparation for the work of the Conference, as are our General Secretary and all Departments at Headquarters, who readily supply any background material that we require.

Religious Festivals During May

by Jean M Potter and Josephine Kinchin

This is the second in a series about religious festivals. We apologise to both Mrs Potter and members of the Sikh religion for mis-spelling their festival of Baisakhi last month.

May 4th. This is the date on which the Greek Orthodox Christians will this year celebrate Easter, the festival which commemorates the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the age. The festival of Wesak is celebrated by the offering of flowers, incense and candles at the shrines of Buddha.

8th May. On this day, Christians of the Western tradition remember the occasion on which, 40 days after the resurrection, Jesus Christ entered into the divine glory at the conclusion of his earthly ministry.

It is known as Ascension day.

16th May or the sixth of Sivan in the Jewish Calendar, is the day on which Shavout falls this year.

This festival, sometimes called the Feast of Weeks, marks the end of the harvest which begins with the harvest of the barley on the first day of Passover, and ends with the harvest of the wheat 49 days (seven weeks) later. The 50th day is the Pentecost holiday of Shavout. (Pentecost comes from the Greek word 'Pentekostos' meaning fifty.)

It is also said that seven weeks or 49 days elapsed from the time Moses led the Israelites from their bondage in Egypt until they received the Law, the Ten Commandments, at Mount Sinai. It is this event which dominates the holiday both in prayer and in custom, and the Book of Ruth, which mentions the barley and wheat harvests, is read in synagogues on Shavout.

It is the Jewish custom to observe the seven weeks leading up to Shavout as a period of mourning when, except for certain days, no weddings or celebrations may be held.

18th May. It was while the Jews were gathered together to celebrate the feast of Pentecost, that the gift of the Holy Spirit was given to the followers of Jesus Christ.

Christians usually call this Festival of the Holy Spirit Whitsunday, derived from the 'white' robes frequently worn for christenings on that day.

Buddhists 6th. May Thailand and Sri Lanka will be celebrating the festival of Wesak when the birth, enlightenment and death of the Buddha (Teacher) Gautama are remembered. Gautama is supposed to have been born in India about 550 BC and at the age of 35 became 'enlightened' as he sat beneath the tree of wisdom. He then set out for the city of Benares in order establish the kingdom of righteousness, to give light to those enshrouded in darkness, and open the gate of immortality to men '.

The Buddha then gathered disciples around him and instructed them in his beliefs, which included the four 'sublime verities':

1) Pain is inseparable from existence.

Pain is the off-spring of desire.

Existence can only cease with Nirvana.

 Nirvana can only be attained through the extinction of desire.

It is only through the purification of countless existences that the soul may be absorbed at last into Nirvana the Blest, a state where all desire is extinct. This extinction of desire is acquired by the fulfilment of eight conditions: right view, right judgment, right language, right purpose, right practice, right obedience, right memory and right meditation.

In addition, the Buddha's followers were forbidden to kill, lie, steal, commit adultery or fall into drunkenness; and were encouraged to cultivate the virtues of charity, purity, patience, courage, contemplation and knowledge.

Gautama continued to teach these doctrines for another 45 years, and eventually died when nearly eighty years of

BLACKLAND

Who can visit?

by Pat Jackson

Do you live in the South East? If you do then you will probably be fortunate enough to know all about Blackland Farm, or at least know of it. But you may be one of the thousands (literally) who are unaware of its existence, so let me put you in the picture.

The Tuck Shop

Blackland, once a farm, but now lent to the Girl Guides Association, by the Manor Charitable Trustees is about four miles from East Grinstead, Sussex, and offers facilities for Brownies, Guides and Rangers. For the Brownies there is Restrop, a superbly equipped Pack Hollday House, with separate dormitory and dining accomodation, and lots of space where Brownies can play accomodation, and lots of space where are 20 equipped camp-sites, most of which have excellent weather shelters, and several unequipped ones. Guides and Rangers can also use Restrop during the winter months.

Good impression so far? But what about facilities, activities, etc?

To mention just a few important items: wood is in very good supply, already sawn into long strips and delivered close to each site. Local shops deliver to the Camp 'yard' and milk is delivered daily. You can even have fish and chips delivered if it's on your Camp menu. Blackland has its own souvenir/tuck shop which also sells useful things such as butane cartridges, toilet rolls and matches, the kind of items that even experienced campers can run short of. Each equipped site has permanent wash and lat cubicles, the latter being Elsan-type with a nearby pit. Every site has its own water tap. For fuller details write to Mr Burgess, Warden, Blackland Farm, East Grintstead, Sussex, with a sae please.

Still interested? Then read on.

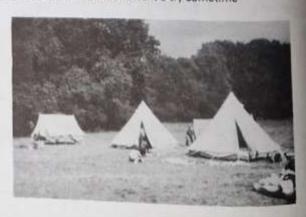

One big attraction is the swimming pool. Although fairly small, unheated and in the open air, it is very popular, even on cold days, and most Camps/Pack Holidays book a daily session. The pool is centrally situated in a wooded valley that runs parallel to the camp-sites and is very secluded. During the past few seasons it has been the focal point of many interesting activities, many of which would not be allowed in public pools, such as It's A Knock-Out competitions, raft sailing and midnight Promise ceremonies with floating candies.

Another attraction is the assault course, erected and maintained by the Service Crew. Naturally the extensive woodland, which is part of the site, provides excellent opportunities for wide-games, nature trails, and all the varied activities that the girls enjoy in Camp. There is also a stream, nearby reservoir, and rocks, all of which can be enjoyed without the use of transport from Camp.

Do I hear a muttered. All very good if you know how to make rope bridges, plaster casts of birds' footprints, climb rocks, etc.' Don't worry. During the main holiday periods there is a resident activity adviser, two if you're lucky. This person is an experienced camper, often a trainer, who volunteers to spend time helping organise activities, such as those mentioned above, for the Guiders who would like such assistance. (Of course a Camp that wishes to remain completely self-contained may do so.) Sometimes the Activity Adviser will organise a united Camp fire, activity display or Guiders' get-together (with a cuppa!) and, of course, be on hand to give help and/or advice where she can.

So that's Blackland – briefly. Worth suggesting to your Brownies, Guides or Rangers? Why not ask them and see? You could also volunteer to be an Activity Adviser: it's great fun, especially if you have a friend who will help too. At Blackland everyone has the opportunity to meet other members of the Movement from all over the country, and sometimes from abroad too. Give it a try sometime

As was announced last month in the Executive Committee Report, we are re-introducing, as a quarterly feature, this popular page. We hope it will provide a better understanding of what goes on at Commonwealth Headquarters.

MANY different visitors came to CHQ during the first quarter of 1975. We were particularly happy to welcome Captain Rosemary Horne, Salvation Army National Guide Organiser, and Miss Barbara Stevens of Australia, the new Guider-in-Charge at Olave House. It is good to know that this World Guide centre in London is again fully functional.

We were also delighted to see many younger visitors such as the Girl Scouts from Ohio in the USA, and the hundreds of Brownies and Guides who came to CHQ to eat and rest after the Thinking Day Service at Westminster Abbey. Attendance this year was estimated at over 4,000 and astonishingly they all appeared to get to the right place at the right time and safely home again. On other occasions, however, we have heard of lost children, so Guiders do please count heads in your party at all stopping points on your journey.

The 22nd World Conference

The World Conference is now only a few weeks away and overseas delegates will arrive on 21st and 22nd June. CHQ will be remaining open for the whole of that weekend so that they can be met and seen safely on their way to Sussex.

In February a Press Conference chaired by the Chief Commissioner was held to launch publicity for the World Conference. Speakers at the conference were Mrs Allan Laing, Deputy Chairman of UK '75 Hostess Planning Committee, Dr Perin Banker and Mrs Halina Sivell of the World Bureau. Interest is now mounting daily.

Foxlease

Foxlease might have been affected by a proposed by-pass road for Lyndhurst. Those of us who know Foxlease will be interested to hear that five alternative routes were proposed, three of which would have affected Foxlease in some way. This Association accordingly briefed Queen's Counsel to look after our interests at a public enquiry in January, the results of which are not expected for some time. The plan finally chosen should not materially affect Foxlease, but as soon as a decision is announced we will report it.

A Musical Movement

Musical instruments from the Association's collection have been loaned to both Hilary Boulding of Newcastle upon Tyne and Mary Charlton of Potters Bar, Herts, and many of you will be as delighted as we are to know that Hilary, who is now reading music at St Hilda's College, Oxford, has been allotted the Association's most prized violin Spiritus Sorsana to take with her. Mary is now teaching having, last year, gained a bronze medal for cello and her licentiate Diploma in Music (teachers). In her exams she scored the third highest marks in the British Isles for honours in music. (See also page 190.)

CHQ Move

Trading Division, as you will have seen in the April issue, will be moving to Altrincham near Manchester at the end of July.

Guiding History

The importance of archives is not generally recognised, and our Archivist is always delighted to be given the opportunity of seeing photographs, uniforms and other material with a Guide background. She is always willing to advise on the value of such items as, for instance, the 1919 uniform and photographs brought in by Mrs Lawrence of llford last month. Material like this is invaluable to our records, so please do let us know if you know of anything like it being disposed of.

Whitehall Spinners

Postal charges, as everyone knows, have risen alarmingly and, at CHQ, we are trying to economise. Those of you in regular correspondence with us are therefore likely, in future, to receive several letters in the one envelope, or second class mail. Whatever we feel about these increases, however, we must give full marks to the Post Office for ingenuity recently. A Guide, wanting a copy of the Spinners badge syllabus, followed the instructions in her handbook and wrote to 'Training Department, Commonwealth Headquarters'. Unfortunately she did not add any further address and her letter was delivered to the Foreign and Commonwealth Office in Whitehall, who very kindly forwarded it to its rightful home in Buckingham Palace Road.

UNLY a small number of Scottish Ranger Guides and Young Leaders were able to make the trip to London for the now famous 'Think-In' at Commonwealth HQ. Their enthusiasm for the idea of having a Scottish Ranger/Young Leader Conference to celebrate the World Conference has now resulted in ' Focus 10'

This event will take place at Lanark from 6th-8th June, 1975. Rangers and Young Leaders from all over Scotland will be housed in Lanark Grammar School. During the weekend attention will be 'focused' on the '10' Guide Laws, hence the title. Participants will be asked to bring with them items relating to the laws, so that a display can be mounted on the Friday evening.

Conservation projects in the area will take place on the Saturday. These involve such varied activities as helping with the restoration of Robert Owen's village of New Lanark, cleaning the headstones and clearing the weeds in the old graveyard there, repairing a path quaintly called Jacob's Ladder in the local Nature Reserve, taking part in an

RANGERS

WIMBLEDON COMMON doesn't only have the Wombles to boast about. Wimbledon windmill (pictured) is one of Britain's last remaining windmills which still has its sails intact. It was built by Charles March in 1817, and is still in working order, despite the need for regular repairs, which include new sails in 1969 and the loss of its grinding machinery.

However, a recent survey revealed that the timbers of the windmill are infested with pests, including dry rot and death watch beetle. In order to maintain the future safety of the mill, and its position as a local and historic landmark, the owners have decided to launch a national 'Wimbledon Windmill Appeal', tying in with the Heritage Year campaign to restore and/or improve historic buildings. The target for the appeal is £20,000. The plans are to develop one floor as a 'windmill museum' that will be open to the Public, although due to the expense involved the grinding machinery will not be replaced.

Rangers are being asked to 'Womble for the World 'as their part in World Conference Year. What better way to put this into practice than to help with the restoration of the Wombles' very own personal windmill? If you would like to help, donations should be sent to Mr

Baked Orange Sunflowers

- 4 large oranges
- 4 tbsps raisins
- 2 ozs chopped nuts
- 4 thsps clear honey
- 2 tbsps lemon juice
- 2 tbsps water

With a sharp knife, pare the orange rinds down into eight pieces, but do not cut away at the bottom. Gently open out orange segments. Fill orange centres with the raisins and chopped nuts. Cut out four pieces of kitchen foil large enough to enclose the oranges. Carefully fold back orange rind, tucking in the ends (see photo). Place each sunflower on a piece of buttered foil and place in a baking tray. Heat honey with water and lemon juice until honey is dissolved. Spoon over oranges, twist foil to make a parcel and bake at Gas Mark 4/350F for 15 minutes. Unwrap sunflowers and serve with whipped cream or ice cream. Serves four.

Spring Lamb Casserole

- 6-8 baby lamb cutlets
- 2 thsps oil
- I thsp Tabasco pepper sauce
- Salt and freshly ground black pepper
- 1 lb peas (fresh or frozen)
- I lb baby carrots
- I lb tinned or fresh new potatoes
- 2 beef stock cubes
- 2 pts water
- To garnish: chopped parsley

Brown the lamb cutlets gently in oil. While cooking, sprinkle with half tablespoonful of Tabasco pepper sauce, salt and black pepper. Mix peas, carrots and potatoes in an oven proof casserole. Place the cutlets in the vegetables. Make up stock with meat juices, add remaining half tablespoonful of Tabasco pepper sauce and pour into casserole. Cover and cook in a moderate oven at Gas Mark 4/350F for approximately 30 minutes. Serves three to four.

Let Battle Commence!

From 24th to the 26th May, at Penton Park, Penton Mewsay, Hampshire, the famed Sealed Knot Society of Cavaliers and Roundheads will re-enact the local battle fought on the 18th October, 1644, between a victorious King Charles I and the Parliamentarians. This promises to be an exciting and colourful spectacle, with 1,500 participants dressed in 17th Century military costumes, and supported by cannon and cavalry. An added attraction will be a 17th Century fair and side shows. The gates open at 12 o'clock each day, and the battle is scheduled to last from 3 pm until 4.30 pm. Admission is 50p for adults and 25p for children, with special arrangements for coach parties. There is also a free car park.

Out For the Night

I have just read the details of the Brownie Overnight Venture Permit. While 1 this Permit an consider excellent idea, as a Pack Holiday Permit holder I was disappointed to see one thing. We must still exclude our seven-year-olds. We now have the ironic situation of being able to take a child just a few days past her eighth birthday away for a week while another, perhaps only a week younger cannot even be taken away for one night. I do realise that lines must be drawn, but must they be so rigid? Believe me, if parents do not think their children are old enough they will not let them come, and this applies to more of our activities than just Pack Holiday.

Perhaps I can illustrate my point with two examples from my Pack. They both concerned seven and three quarter-year-olds, both as it happened with older sisters in the Pack. The older sisters were Pack Holidaying and in both cases the parents considered the younger child old enough to go also. These Brownies of two-and-a-half standing were terms disappointed at not being able to join their sisters on the holiday. For one of them next year never came as the family moved, and the Pack to which the Brownie transferred do not go on Pack Holiday.

I wonder how many Guiders could quote similar examples from their own Packs.

JR Shaw,
Brownie Guider,
2nd Linsdale Pack, Beds
A great deal of consultation and discussion took place on this particular point, and it was put to the vote by the Programme/Training Committee. It is worth noting that the final decision was weighted by the Brownie biased members of this Committee, who are active Guiders running Packs and holding Pack Holiday Licences themselves. It was felt that during her life in the Pack a Brownie would probably have several opportunities to experience Overnight Venture. Eighteen is still regarded as the ideal maximum number for a residential event and most Pack Holiday Houses will accommodate just that number and no more. Of course it's bad luck for the few who may miss out altogether, but when was life fair to everyone!

Guide Badges

Having read other views on using meeting time for Interest Badge work, I would like to put forward the reason why we use some of our evenings to work with the Guides for Badges.

Left to themselves the girls do not do anything at home toward Badges. But they look with envy during Division events at other Guides wearing them and love to actually gain Badges them-selves. So, we hope to encourage the girls to try new interests and ideas for leisure time, and to give them opportunities for activities their parents don't do with them, most families being content to fill their evenings with 'telly', as well as giving them the satisfaction of following something through to a deserving standard reward of a Badge to wear.

A few do go on to work on their own for Badges of their own special interest, but I have heard other Guiders deploring the apathy regarding spending time at home working on Badges, and the lack of parental encouragement. Gay Coleshott (Mrs),

6th Moreton Guide Coy, Wirrall, Cheshire

Guider's Image

With reference to the letter from Mrs Maria Reardon in the March issue of Guider, 1 would like to state the case for the young Guider who cannot 'be bothered or spare the time to take Guides camping'. I am a young Guider who would like very much to take her Company to Camp, but is prevented from doing so by the restrictive and time consuming process of obtaining a Camper's licence. This would require that I attend weekly trainings throughout the winter in Wolverhampton, an hour and a half's bus journey from my home; and as a fulltime medical student, I could neither afford the time nor the money, and my Company funds could not stand the strain of subsidising me to the tune of 50p a week. Apart from these considerations, my previous experience of Guider Trainings, in this area at least, is that they are designed for those who know nothing about Guides; and since I gained my Queen's Guide Award in the not-toodistant past, I really feel that my time could be better spent. Let us have a system similar to that of the Scouts, where any warranted Scouter may take his Troop to Camp with the permission of his DC. A Guider could then train herself, in her own time, and Commissioners could satisy themselves that Guiders were sufficiently competent and responsible to take Guides camping by a couple of personal visits. In this way, I feel sure that more Guiders would find themselves able to run Camps, and one would find experienced Campers who could give advice and instruction when needed more frequently than in the present situation, where licenceholders are few and are hard pressed with running District and Divisional Camps.

Yes, Mrs Reardon, the image of 'elderly ladies' is a true one; not because we young Guiders do not care, but because the Movement forgets that we have other commitments. It would seem then, that we are very much needed, and not only to change the public image; yet we are discouraged by the yards of red tape and innumerable training sessions which the Movement would see fit to add to our already busy lives.

Anne Chilton, 9th Oldbury (Our Lady & St Hubert RC) Coy, Warley ...or not to Pray?

I should like to protest against the suggestion made in the article 'Unity Through Diversity' (March Guider) that Christian Guiders should modify their Company prayers to suit non-Christians. Surely non-Christians can be excused from prayers, as used to be done when Roman Catholics did not wish to take part in Company worship?

I feel that the non-Christian will not be impressed by a Christian who is willing to modify her form of worship. The words 'Through Jesus Christ, Our Lord' are surely the most important in the prayer.

I am prepared to say that all people have a right to their own religious beliefs, but I am not willing to say that my faith must be altered to suit those of other faiths.

Ist Crewe Green,

I would certainly agree that within the Guide Movement no one should be expected to 'alter their faith'; in fact, one hopes it may be strengthened through membership of the Association.

However, we must remember that the Movement is a religious and not a purely Christian organisation, and therefore in Open Units, if there are children from different faiths, their beliefs must be respected.

Guider in Production

The first of an occasional series of articles about the departments at CHQ.

EVERY MONTH your copy of Guider is pushed through the letter box and, we hope, read from cover to cover. But do you ever stop and wonder how the magazine gets put together? Some of you, we know, have visions of 'them up there' sitting round a dixie, dropping in pieces of paper, and stirring them with a large wooden spoon. Sometimes we wish this were true. We would like to introduce you to the people who make the Guider possible, and to tell you how it is done.

Mrs Jean Rush is the Managing Editor, and responsible not only for Guider but also Today's Guide and The Brownie. It is her job to read what you, the readers, send in and decide whether we can use it in Guider or not. The letters you write on almost every subject imaginable also arrive on Mrs Rush's desk. If they concern a matter of policy she passes them on to the appropriate department, and they, in turn, either answer them direct or return it to be published with a comment.

Miss Ann Martin is the Advertisement Manager and keeps a steady supply of ad's coming from various agencies and companies. Those of you who have uniforms to sell, events to announce, or Camps to staff, write to Miss Martin. She then helps you to word your classified advertisement, if you need help, and tells you how much it will cost. When agencies send in 'display 'advertisements, all the copy has to be checked to ensure that it does not conflict with the Association's policies.

The Assistant Editor is Miss Janet King, one of whose jobs is to co-ordinate the editorial copy that Mrs Rush wants in the magazine, with the advertisement copy that Miss Martin wants in. At a monthly editorial conference the Managing Editor and the Assistant Editor decide what will appear on each page of the next month's magazine.

It is then the job of the Assistant Editor to get the copy ready for the printer. More often than not this involves retyping, as the printer likes the copy set out in an easy to read way. Then the copy has to be checked for grammatical errors, incorrect facts, etc. By now Miss King knows which page the copy will appear on, so she makes sure it is not too long and then decides whether it will be two columns, three, or even four.

The fourth member of the staff is Mr Stuart Mills, the Sub Editor. His is the unenviable task of helping Miss King. He also has the task of collating the What's On page, and every month the same cry can be heard as he tries to sort out Nationwide - 'I do wish people would let us know in time ' (or words to that effect).

Once the copy has returned from the printers as galleys' (long strips of type), it has to be carefully read. Then between them, Miss King and Mr Mills (supervised and advised by Mrs Rush), decide how each page will look and lay it out with illustrations, before sending it back to the printers. Finally, a proof of each page is seen and read yet again by each member of staff, before the printers are told to go ahead and print your magazine. Once it is printed, Miss Cruise sends out subscription copies and deals with queries about late deliveries, etc.

The Brownie and Today's Guide are produced in the same way.

We have acquired two young men in the department, Mr Mills and Mr Bexfield, Assistant Editor of Today's Guide. Our days are not just hard work. In the last six months many things have helped to brighten our days. During school holidays, Miss D Bond, Editor of The Brownie, and her assistant, Miss Pam Price, are visited by many Packs on their tours around CHQ. The surprise, and, I might add, delight on the faces of the youngest Brownies to the oldest Guider when they see these young men, brightens our day.

Many memorable moments in the department spring to mind, like the enjoyment we get at opening the thousands of entries in The Brownie competitions, and the pounds of rice that have come off the collages and on to our floors; the phone call from the man who thought he remembered a present day Camp Site as a run-down area just after the war; the lady who wanted us to sing the Elf Six song over the phone; the day that someone left a briefcase near the back door and the bomb squad arrived. The list could go on.

Now that you have been introduced to us all, why not bring your Units up to meet us, see how the magazines are put together, and meet and see the other people who help to make headquarters the special place it is. Book your visits in advance through Reception Department.

A New Guider's Thoughts on Thinking Day

As I SAT in the church waiting for the Thinking Day Procession to start, I thought back over the last six weeks of feverish activities.

Eight weeks ago I knew very little about Guiding and nothing at all about Thinking Day. I had plunged in at the deep end after Christmas and agreed to take a small company of Guides, not realising what was ahead! But oh, how much I have learnt in a short space of time, because of Thinking Day. Through meetings with other Guiders, and helping the Guides with their various Thinking Day projects, we have all got to know each other so quickly. In the past six weeks my Guide Company has doubled its numbers, and the new Guides have also been drawn into the preparations for the Thinking Day Party and Ceremony, and like myself, have learnt more about the World Wide Organisation as they have found out about the customs and uniforms of other countries.

As the procession of Guides and Brownies moved slowly up the church I checked on the four Guides from my own Company. Yes, Kathy had managed to get her red tie right for the South Africa uniform, Gail looked fine in her Camp dress with a green sash for Zambia, Jane was alright now, after a last minute panic when she couldn't find her card with Liberia printed on it, and Pat had at least managed to find a suitable way to tie her hair back; so all was well. I said a silent 'thank you' to the Trefoil Guild for providing navy blue uniforms for us (what would I have done without their help?)

I smiled as I looked round the church and saw many familiar faces that were strangers to me eight weeks ago. I didn't feel ' new ' any longer. I was part of the District, part of the Division, part of the County, and most important of all, part of the World Wide Organisation of Guiding VER THE YEARS, CHQ has been given or loaned a series of musical instruments to be used by members of the Movement. To have one of these instruments on loan, a girl must have reached a certain standard in her musical training and be fairly active as a Guide, Ranger or Guider.

All the instruments are named and many have interesting stories to tell. On this page we would like to tell you some of those stories and introduce you to the instruments.

DIANA

I am a violin that was presented to the Girl Guides Association in 1925 by Miss Sibyl Mounsey Heysham. Before this I belonged to the Chief Guide, Olave Lady Baden-Powell. In 1943 William Hill and Sons (who are responsible for keeping us instruments in good condition) presented the bow which accompanies me. We are both insured, as are all the instruments, and the bow is engraved with the Trefoil. I was helping Jane Bultz of Bournemouth with her musical studies. In 1974 I accompanied Jane when she went on an Italian tour with the West Sussex Youth Orchestra. But now I am with Ann Williams of Cheltenham.

SIBYL

I am also a violin presented to the Association by Miss Sibyl Mounsey Heysham in 1948. I have been helping Janet Litherland and have been played in Chichester Cathedral. When Janet went to Italy with the West Sussex Youth Orchestra I went too, and was very proud when Janet was named as leader of the second violins. On that tour I had a reunion with Diana. At the moment I am in the strongroom awaiting re-allocation.

SPIRITUS SORSANA

I am a violin, made by W E Hill & Son and presented to the Association by Mrs D Jeffreys in 1957, the Baden-Powell Centenary Year. Until November 1974, I was helping Hilary Minto, a Ranger from Northumberland. Together we attended a British Youth Symphony Orchestra course where I had a reunion with Evelyn. Hilary has also played me with the Junior Philharmonic Orchestra.

I am a violin loaned to the Girl Guides by Miss Mary Scott Evans in 1950. I am accompanied by the Sartory Bow. Early in 1974 I went up to Newcastle upon Tyne to help Hilary Boulding, who is a Ranger. She has now returned me to CHQ and has been offered the help of Centenary.

GEORGE PANORM

I am a violin who was loaned to the Association in 1957 and then in 1973 I became a gift to the Guides from Mrs Chadwick. I was down in Cornwall helping Ellan Reeves, who is a Guide. Every week we played with the Tamer String Players and we were members of the first violins with the Cornwall Youth Orchestra. Today I am helping Ranger Lesley Beazley in South Ockenden, Essex.

BUSHRIDGE

When Mrs Bushridge decided to give the Association a violin in 1965 in gratitude for her daughter's pleasure as a member of the Movement, she gave me. Earlier this year I went down to Kent to join 13-year-old Susan Dart.

WINIFRED

I am a German-made violin presented to the Association by Miss Nancy Green in 1969. At present I am with Judith Preston in Wolverhampton. Judith is a Patrol Leader and working hard on her music grades.

I am a voilin at present helping Lisa Marchant of Brighton with her music studies.

DOROTHY

I am an 18th Century French violin who was loaned to the Association in 1973 by Mrs Fitzwilliam. At the moment I am with Barbara Cross who is a Ranger.

HELEN

I am a violin loaned to the Association by Miss A M Baker in 1972. At present I am in Yorkshire with Sandra Finlay. Sandra plays in many concerts, including the 25th Jubilee Concert at her college. We also went to a Music Day in Wakefield when Sandra coached the string section of the orchestra.

I am a violin at present in the strongroom. I am available to beginners including Brownie Guides.

ESTHER

I am the Association's only Viola and was presented to them by Miss Gwyneth Parry Morgan in 1951. At present I am in York with Wendy Brownbridge. Wendy is an Assistant Guide Guider and plays me in her college's

WM FORESTER

Mrs McNab presented me, a Violoncello, to the Association in 1959. Early in 1974 I was returned to the Association and am waiting to go out and meet my next member of the Movement. Mary Charlton, whom I helped for some time, is now teaching music. Mary was recently awarded a Bronze Medal for cello with the third highest marks in the British Isles.

THOS SMITH

I am a Violoncello loaned to the Association in 1950 by Mrs Keen. I was attending college in Edinburgh with Patricia McCorquodale. Patricia played me during the first performance of a special work to celebrate her cathedral's 750th anniversary. But I was recently returned to CHQ, and after a visit to Hills will be going to help another young musician.

THOSE were the DAYS

The first Head of Training, appointed in 1918, was Mrs Julian appointed in 1918, was Mrs Julian Strode who, as Gladys Cobb, was a Guide in 1911 in the Company at St James's, Malvern. (A fellow Guide was Alison Cargill, now Mrs Green-lees, a Vice-President of the GGA.)

By the end of 1917 Mrs Strode was among the first to earn her Red was among the jirst to earn her Rea Cord Diploma at the residential training school at Abbey Lodge, West Malvern, run by Miss Field and Miss Riley under the direction of Miss Alice Baird. One of the qualifications for a Trainer was that she really understands the Guide spirit and it was during Mrs Strode's time as Head of Training Strode's time as Head of Training that the guide-lines for training and camping, all over the country, were laid down so successfully. As far back as 1920 she invited every County Commissioner to nominate a camper to represent her county, and these representatives met at a training camp to exchange ideas. Mrs Strode's idea for Camp Advisers was turned down in 1921, on the grounds that no more 'officials' were needed, but it was accepted about two years later and a licence test for Guiders followed.

In this extract from The Girl Guides' Gazette, published 50 years ago, called 'Guiding Seen from a Backwater', Mrs Strode gives us all a timely reminder that Guiding is the girls' Movement, and it is knowledge of the day-to-day lives of the Brownies, Guides and Rangers that really help a Guider to run a good

Ocean Control of the Control

N THE OLD, old days of cocks' feathers and chevrons, many, many years ago, people talked of the spirit of adventure and freedom and enterprise stalked abroad. Then, a visit to a neighbouring Company was an affair of great excitement, for who could tell what the next door Captain had invented in the way of drill and ceremonial, or even what new pattern uniform you might meet?

In these days we know better of course. Drill is drill and ceremonial see 'Drill Book'. In those days a camp-fire was just a fire - sticks and smoke and flame and glowing ash; we sang Three Blind Mice and White Sand and Grey Sand and it was all very elementary.

But Guiding is a Movement, we must remind ourselves, and certainly it moves (we might even say it buzzes'). Certainly Guiding is a science now. For a Guider who is a good Captain should (at least) be a first-class folk-dancer, and at the same time be on the way to the Army Signaller's Badge, and have at least at her finger-tips the contents of the 'Drill Book', the 'Book of Rules' and 'Campcraft'. She must also have a sound knowledge of nursing, hygiene, civics, etc, and be a lifesaver, if possible, and, of course, know several of the excellent handbooks on the proficiency badges...

In the old days we had the Handbook – which after all was written by the Chief. Now everyone studies psychology, which has been described as 'the art of saying what everyone knows in words that nobody knows' so we can really deal adequately with the problem of 'the girl'.

And the Guides? After all, it is the Girl Guide Movement, isn't it? What about Lizzie and Laura and Nellie and all the rest, and their lives and problems in the light of that extremely difficult thing - the Guide

Looking Back to Rosebud Days

If you're a Brownie Guider and are visiting CHQ at any time do ask 'Reception' if you can see the 'Brownie Diamond Jubilee' cuttings books which include many newspaper cuttings and pictures of all the wonderful good turns, parties, thanksgiving services and outings held all over the country to celebrate this happy event.

An Ipswich Brownie, Katharine Ball, tried to help us in our search for a metal rosebud badge for exhibition at CHQ, and she had the thrill of seeing her letter published in The Daily Telegraph. So far, we haven't obtained a badge for exhibition, but one of the members of the Much Hadham Rosebud Pack (whose picture is published below), Mrs W M Day, has sent us one to see. Another Rosebud, Miss Vera Walker, of Exeter, tells us she wore a silk embroidered rosebud badge sewn on the left side of her navy blue jersey. Has anyone seen one of these? (All offers for exhibition, please, to the Archivist at CHQ.)

Miss Walker writes: 'I joined the Bristol Guide Company as a Rosebud when I was nine. At our meetings the three Guide Patrols went into their corners and the Rosebuds, in charge of Lieutenant, into the 4th corner. (At that time the Guides and the younger ones attended the same meetings.) We were taught to do knots and, following the St John's Ambulance First Aid Book, we learned bandaging and First Aid . . . and sometimes Rosebuds acted as patients for the Guides, especially for stretcher drill. It was all tremendous fun and we would sing camp-fire songs before we went home, ending every meeting with God Save the King.

During the First World War, as food became more difficult to get, Guides and Rosebuds took farm eggs to wounded soldiers in a convalescent home. We took two trams to Clifton Downs and then walked across the famous suspension bridge. (There were no buses and very few people had cars.) Later, as a Guide, I went to camp with my sister at the foot of Dunkery Beacon: because of the war, we were not allowed to sleep in tents and Molly and I stayed at the Post Office: our luggage was loaded on a farm cart and we walked the two miles to Wootton Courtenay. It was on this walk I discovered several wild flowers I had not seen before and I spent so much time picking whortle berries I was given the nickname of "Whortle"!'

The Much Hadham, Hertford shire, Rosebud Pack, 1914 Miss M Elders, the Rosebud in the middle of the back row now lives in Woking, Surrey (Does any reader recognise anyone else? If so, please write to the Archivist at CHQ.)

Tree Survey

The Tree Council are launching a National Tree Survey and they are asking everyone to help. They have issued leaflets with details of how to present your results to the right people. It tells you what to check when you record a tree or clump of trees, how to mark a map and how to make a chart of your findings. Many of you planted a tree in 'Plant a Tree Year', but it is now time to look after our existing trees. If you would like to help, write to The Tree Council, Room C10/13, 2 Marsham Street, London SW1P 3EB, for a copy of their leaflet.

Farm Open Days

If you are a Guider with a city or town Unit, how many of your girls have ever visited a farm? This year why not take advantage of Farm Open Days and take members of your Unit to see how lambs are sheared or crops harvested? In 26 counties up and down the country farmers are inviting members of the public to come and see them on certain days. If you would like to know the dates and addresses of the farms, write for information to The Project Officer, Farm Open Days, Association of Agriculture, 78 Buckingham Gate, London SW1E 6PE.

Sponsored Swims

Last year's sponsored swim in aid of the Friendship Group of Charities was so successful that they are holding another this year. Any group that would like to take part can hold their swim when and where they wish, so long as the money is sent in before the end of 1975. The money raised in this way will be divided between the Association for Spina Bifida and Hydrocephalus, Invalid Children's Aid Association, National Association for the Welfare of Children in Hospital, National Society for Autistic Children, National Society for Mentally Handicapped Children and the Lady Hoare Thalidomide Trust. If you would like further details of sponsor forms write to Mrs Valerie Abrahams, 170 I Cresent, Queensbury, Middlesex. Portland

Arctic Adventure

Thomas Cooke Adventure Club are organising a backpacking trek down the King's Way in Swedish Lappland this summer. The route, starting inside the Arctic Circle at Abisko, runs south for 132 miles through what has been called 'the last great wilderness in Europe', with overnight stops at mountain huts. The party, which will be limited to 15-20 in number, will leave London Airport on 19th July, and the full cost, including travel, accommodation and food, will be about £200. If you are interested, and can afford it, a leaflet, which includes a reservation form, is available from Thomas Cook Adventure Club, 45 Berkeley Street, London WIA 1EB.

Handbills

Copies of the handbill, 'Join Our Happy , are still available. handbills are to remind members of the Movement that there is a magazine for their particular section that aims to help them. The Brownie, Guider and the 'new-look' Today's Guide are featured on the colourful handbill. If you would like copies for your Unit, write to the Periodicals Dept at CHQ.

Scout Association President

The vacancy for the President of The Scout Association, created by the death of HRH the Duke of Gloucester, has now been filled. As Patron of the Association Her Majesty the Queen has appointed HRH the Duke of Kent. Although he has not been a member of the Association, the Duke's father was Commodore of the Sea Scouts for 13

Hair Care

The Institute of Trichologists has published a leaflet entitled Your Hair And Its Care. This leaflet is designed to satisfy the constant demand for information concerning all facets of hair care, and deals with the basic facts in comprehensible and non-specialist language. If you would like a copy of this leaflet, or details of local registered members in practice, write to the General Secretary's Office, Institute of Trichologists (Incorporated), 228 Stockwell Road, Brixton, London SW9 9SU, including a stamped addressed envelope.

In Memoriam

Phyllis Barlee, who died at the end of January, will be remembered by those who worked with her in India between the two world wars as one of the outstanding British Guiders who helped to build up Guiding. She had been a Guide at Princess Helena's College, Ealing, and when she joined her parents in Bombay helped with Bluebirds and then served as District Commissioner for Satara where her father was the District Officer.

Phyllis was General Secretary for the Guide Movement in India for two years and, after earning her Eagle Owl Diploma, became the first Brownie Trainer in India. When her father retired as a High Court Judge in 1937 the tamily settled in Suffolk and soon afterwards Phyllis Barlee volunteered for the ATS. Members of the Guide Movement are proud she was the first holder of the title 'Queen's Cadet' after passing out of an ATS Officers' Training Unit in Surrey.

(Some of Phyl Barlee's friends hope to compile a record of her life)

The Hon Cicely K Brooks, who died on 10th February, will be remembered with affection and gratitude for her varied work in Lancashire where she had fifty years. She led SE Lancashire through the difficult war years when her businesslike ability and efficient chairmanship were appreciated. Miss Brooks was instrumental in dividing the very large county into three separate, workable ones, and in 1946 she was awarded the Beaver for outstanding service to the Movement. Crawshaw Hall, her home, was open to Guides for meetings, and training and camps were held in the grounds.

Miss Brooks had been a JP for twenty-eight years and she will be remembered, too, for her work for moral welfare, the RSPCA, SSAFA and especially her church, St John's, Crawshawbooth.

'I should like to pay a tribute to Elizabeth Fry's great kindness, sense of humour, courage and understanding,' writes Elisabeth Lotz, a former International Commissioner in Switzerland. Indeed, many friends will wish to record their appreciation of all that Miss Fry, who died on 4th March, gave to Guiding. She began as a Guide and Ranger Guider in Kensington in the twenties and later she also served as a District and Division Commissioner, a Trainer and a Camp Adviser.

For over 35 years many Guides and Rangers have enjoyed camping at Sarrat in Hertfordshire, a site Miss Fry generously gave to Hampstead and St Marylebone Divisions in 1938. During the Second World War she worked for the Red Cross and St John Ambulance Brigade, and from 1949-1951 she was the Secretary of the Catholic Guide Advisory Council.

In World Guiding Miss Fry gave generously of her time and talents as Treasurer of the World Bureau and as Chairman of Our Ark, now Olave TWM

Guiding in the Cherwell Division and Banbury District of Oxfordshire, has lost one of its most dedicated and admired members. Miss Mary Wakelin died suddenly after a happy Thinking Day evening with her Company and Brownies. She started the 1st Grimsbury Company, Banbury, over 40 years ago and her Guides will never forget the sound common sense, enthusiasm and fun she brought into Guiding, and the wonderful example set to those who came under her care. She was a tower of strength to all, and gave unstintingly of her time. She was District Commissioner, Division and Assistant County Camp Adviser, and was awarded the Oak Leaf for services to Guiding.

Handbooks

Everyone will understand that, with costs increasing daily, we have been forced to put up the prices (prices that we have held for two years) of the Brownie and Guide Handbooks for this year's editions. We were also overtaken by an increased demand. The year's supply, printed early in 1974, sold out in ten months. We had allowed for one month's overlap, but even so we were out of stock for some weeks. We are sorry about this, and have increased our print order for 1975. So as not to delay further the reprint of The Brownie Guide Handbook we had to print it without the price, as this was not finally settled at the time, and we apologise for any inconvenience this may cause.

The new price of The Brownie Guide Handbook is 55p and of The Guide Handbook 60p.

Commonwealth Institute

In this month's Today's Guide we are featuring the Commonwealth Institute. May we repeat the plea that Guiders wishing to take parties of Guides to the Institute should be sure to book the visit in advance. Forms can be obtained from the Institute or your County Commonwealth Adviser. By booking your visit, the staff at the Institute will be prepared for your Guides and will offer them questionnaires on the exhibits, a room in which to eat their lunch and, if you wish, reserved seats in the cinema. Guiders can also obtain advance particulars of events to take place on application to the Institute.

Training Diploma Award

Miss A Kirkwood, Belfast. (Guide.)

Mervyn Newnham Memorial Fund

Those of her friends who would like to contribute to a memorial to Mervyn

Newnham at Foxlease, where she was Guider-in-Charge from 1937-1945, should send their contributions to Miss Evelyn Nuttall at Nythfa, Llannefydd, Denbigh, Clwyd. Cheques should be made out to her for the 'Mervyn Newnham Memorial Fund'. It is regretted that it will not be possible to send receipts.

The form the memorial will take has not yet been decided, but it will be something of lasting value that Foxlease needs. Suggestions will be welcome, but the nature of the gift will eventually be decided in conjunction with the 'Friends of Foxlease'. It is hoped that an announcement can be made at the 'Friends of Foxlease' Annual General Meeting at Foxlease on 12th July.

Opportunity knocks . . .

Foxlease 2nd - 9th August 9th - 16th August 16th - 23rd August 23rd - 30th August Waddow 9th - 21st August

... for those wishing to take small parties of Guides or Rangers for a week's holiday in the New Forest or on the edge of the Yorkshire Moors.

At Foxlease accommodation will be in a Georgian House situated on the edge of the Forest. You will be expected to plan your own Programme, which could include any of the following: Forest walking, deer stalking, bird and badger watching (though the latter may be a little elusive), searching for fossils, a visit to a Cathedral City, or to Brownsea Island where the Founder held the experimental Camp for boys in 1907. There will be someone to give advice, to help with handcrafts and activities for the evenings.

At Waddow you can go walking over the hills and fells, explore the witch country and many fascinating villages, visit abbeys, castles and Roman remains, go bird watching, fossil hunting by the river, or follow nature trails.

It will not be necessary for leaders of parties to hold a Holiday Permit, as qualified and experienced Guiders will be present to comply with POR requirements. Leaders should, however, obtain the consent of their own Commissioners before making an application.

For full details please write to the Guider-in-Charge of Foxlease or Waddow (for addresses see 'Where to Train' page 205).

Something in Common

Foxlease 28th/30th November, 1975

For several years both Associations have cooperated to provide opportunities for Ranger Guiders and Venture Scout Leaders to attend jointly organised trainings. Foxlease now opens its doors to welcome leaders of Ranger and Venture Scout Units, or of Joint Units, to a general training geared to giving you the chance to share your experiences with others and to discuss topics related to your job of working with this age group.

The title of the weekend sets the theme, which is aimed at putting the emphasis on the common ground which both Associations must cover to achieve the same aims.

Ranger Guiders who have attended joint courses at Gilwell felt they had gained a lot from the experiences which such gatherings offer to pool ideas and to get to know your 'opposite number'. We hope that Venture Scout Leaders will join us this time at Foxlease, so do make these dates known to them.

International Scout and Guide Club

Meetings take place every Monday, 8.00 pm at Baden-Powell House, Queen's Gate, London. All visitors are welcome. Programmes for May include: 5th, Talk on Caving; 12th, Annual General Meeting; 19th, Film Making; 24th-26th, Activity Weekend.

Syllabus for Guide Interest and Service Badges

In order to keep down costs, the 1974 edition of this booklet contains the syllabuses of only 43 of the most widely used Badges. We felt that testers of Badges rarely taken, could have the syllabuses copied for them from The Guide Handbook rather than that everyone should have to pay a much higher price for this booklet.

Joint Units Leaflet

A revised edition of this leaflet is now available free, from Country/Region HQ.

Book List

We regret that errors have occured in the order of the Book List in the new catalogue for 1975. Would you please note: Pages 18/19, items from X9095-X9073 should appear under the Brownie section. Page 22, items X9163 to end of page should appear under the Guide section. Page 24, items under the heading Charts should appear in the Guide section. Our apologies for the inconvenience caused.

RANGER

Training Ideas

We've Booked The Methodist Hall

Muriel Hopkinson

Produkse I realised they would have to go to Rangers soon. After all, they were 14 now, but they were so useful in the Company and it had taken such a lot of time and hard work to turn them into good Patrol Leaders and Seconds. No, we'd wait until the Autumn as planned and then perhaps a suitable Ranger Guider would appear, and perhaps some of the other Guides would be ready to take on the Patrols by then, although I certainly couldn't see that there was anybody in the least bit suitable at the moment. Anyway, we'd planned to take them to Our Chalet as Guides in July and turn them tidily into Rangers at the beginning of the Autumn term, and besides I wasn't ready yet. Really, they were ungrateful, and it would spoil all my plans.

In the end I didn't have any say in the matter. They took things into their own hands, decided that Easter was just the time for a new beginning and booked the Methodist Hall. After all, hadn't I always told them that Rangers ran their own show? If I could just look in and perhaps make the coffee they could manage the rest; Alison had agreed to be the Chairman (it said you needed one in the book) Linda would be the Secretary, and Sandra had already bought a book to write the subs in. They'd invited Michele from the other end of the District and Debbie from the next town, so it was bound to work! I wasn't sure about it at all, it wasn't in the least bit as I'd planned; if only they'd wait. They thought it would be easy but it really needed such a lot of planning and they were so young, and how could I replace them in the Company?

Just as I'd predicted, it wasn't long before they ran into difficulties. Not many people want to travel long distances in a rural area to speak to a group of eight or nine teenagers and, of course, most things cost money and they hadn't much of that yet. It took all the resources and expertise of my nearest and busiest friends to get us through this sticky patch, but the enthusiasm of the new Rangers (I was even beginning to think of them as Rangers now) and their sheer joie de vivre was so infectious that somehow we managed to get through the Summer term with quite a useful programme, while plans for our trip abroad kept spirits up.

At last, our long awaited trip to Our Chalet became reality and was better than our wildest dreams. Even I could see that, although they were the youngest group there, and by far the least experienced walkers and over-night hikers, they were learning fast and were really quite sophisticated young ladies, ready for all that Rangering has to offer. The end of our fortnight in Switzerland came, addresses were exchanged with Girl Scouts and Rangers from as far apart as Finland and the USA, fond farewells and promises to write often were made, and all too soon, we were on our way home again, with cameras full of never to be forgotten experiences to be re-lived and savoured for a long time to come.

Autumn arrived, and things were going to be a bit flat now after that wonderful summer. Would they find it difficult to get enthusiastic about the sort of activities our limited resources and facilities would allow? Again I had underestimated them, and they had a lot to look forward to; their first invitation to a Ranger/Venture Scout Activities Camp had been received for October and needed advance planning and they were all working hard on their pre-Investiture Challenge. There were several invitations to County Ranger events and they were also planning their first big money-raising venture.

The first investiture took place on a cliff-top 25 miles from home one Sunday afternoon in early December; the same spot on which we had all met four years ago when they were at their first Guide

Camp. There were lots of reminiscences as we walked down the hill to cook our tea. They'd forgotten the frying pan, so wasn't it lucky that there was a group of Australian Scouts at the farm who invited the Rangers to add their sausages to the already sizzling barbecue? I wondered at the girls' self-confidence as they stood around the fire afterwards, completely at ease with their new-found friends. Were these really my rather immature PL's of ten months ago?

Well, it's really rather a pity that they've found themselves a Guider. She's been along to several meetings now, and as soon as she finishes her three months' work away from home, I don't suppose they'll need me at all. Ah well! I'll be able to concentrate on the Company more, and as soon as those three bossy 14-year-olds move up to Rangers, there will be new PL's to train, and the County International Camp is looming on the horizon. Yes, there's a lot to do in the Company, so I suppose that it's a good thing that the Rangers can cope without me. On the other hand, we've had lots of fun Rangering during this past year. At least I'm not like those Guide Guiders who hang on to their girls too long when they really are ready for Rangers. Why, I can't wait to get rid of them these days! I wonder if they've got room for Pam? Now, there's a girl who's really ready for the Ranger programme.

DISTRICT

Training for the Commissioner and her team of Guiders

Training

The

AGAIN AND AGAIN at Training Committees the Division Representatives ask for a Patrol Leaders' training. Telling them it is the job of the Unit Guider to train her own PL's according to their needs, although true, does not give them an adequate or convincing reply. What can we do to help our Patrol Leaders get the necessary training?

Firstly, it is possible to have a happy and interesting gathering of PL's at a central point where they are almost certain to enjoy themselves. They can learn some games and try out a few plays with which to occupy their Patrols over a number of weeks. There is greater benefit if someone takes time and trouble to include the right kind of activity and help them to see the possible variations.

Secondly, how about Miss Dunnitt gathering some Guiders together in the District or Division and giving them some training in the form of activities which their Patrols can do with the PL's in charge? Yes, it is sure to be of help, especially if Miss Dunnitt can draw from the Guiders the how, why, and where-fore of the activities, and help them to see that they may need adapting for particular circumstances. It helps if she also points out that a PL of 12, with help beforehand and trust in her capabilities, is really quite capable of organising a Patrol. Perhaps there could be an exchange of ideas at District Meetings, commenting on their effectiveness next time if tried out by particular Units. Fireside training can be very valuable when all the thoughts necessary before, during, and after more advanced Patrol activities can be talked through over a cuppa in the informal, less time consuming atmosphere of someone's home.

Perhaps the best method is, whenever possible, to have PL's and their Guiders together for a training session. On such occasions Cassie, Jo and Pat can not only try out ideas but put their heads together to discover why they worked or why they didn't, and whether they are suitable for their own Patrol, remembering Mr Fidget, the caretaker, who might prove more awkward than usual if the Hawks start lighting candles inside tin cans on his floor. The fact that someone has helped the Hawk PL to see what is necessary in the way of preparation, and the confidence she has gained through the training, will convince him that it will be all right. The fact her Guider knows that she is capable, having been there and seen her in action, will help too.

Here is a variable blue-print for such a training if you would like to try it in your District or Division, or ask your Training Committee if they can help you to organise something on these lines both with, and for you. Not more than 30 PL's are advised, together with their 10 or 12 Guiders. Divide them quickly into groups, the Guiders can help. Then the 'Patrols' settle into a chosen place and the Guiders can gather in two or more groups, out of the way but visible.

A 'Getting to Know You' activity is useful, then two or three quick and varied games such as Button Kim, Kick the Box, etc, with instructions for each game being given to a different PL every time. Remember to allow time for making notes.

Having previously asked the Guiders to take note of their own PL's in particular, and to observe generally with a view to noticing something specific about someone, such as 'Sally took care of an obviously newer PL', or 'Penny was very efficient' the Patrols can then try out something requiring more organisation, eg Silhouettes; Toffee Marshmallows (using butane gas); Buddy Burners; reconstructing a crime from a set up incident (Young Leaders would be useful here). If all the Patrols can have different activities it will help the Guiders to realise this can work.

It is useful while these are going on if the Guiders can have a Handout on which are such questions as: If a recruit was in this Patrol would she have completed any part of her Pre-Promise Challenges? What are the snags for you? List four points where individual progress can be made, etc. The Guiders can wander round and see what is happening, but advise them not to help unless specifically asked to do so.

There may be time for an outside ploy, bringing in timing and wider organisation. Ask the Guiders to discuss what build up is desirable for such activities, then, to round off, try to include some food for thought. One idea is to have pieces of ruled paper for the Patrols on which they can record activities done under the appropriate Eight-Point heading; possible follow up etc. You could have a large Eight-Point star suitably marked, on which pieces of card with details of things tried or other aspects such as 'returning equipment to Guider' can be placed, together with a spill in the centre if they consider the Promise was incorporated in any way

Leader Patrol

Ilma Bailey

You can ask their reasons, or not ask if you prefer.

Such a training should help a PL to learn something, practise her skills, have an opportunity to organise, widen her horizons and deepen her understanding of Guiding, while giving her fun at the same time. The Guiders can be helped to see what is possible in Patrols, be encouraged to let PL's take a more responsible part in Unit affairs, and learn that by standing back and looking and listening they can learn so much more about individuals, and be better able to meet their needs.

The Patrol Leaders have a new book to give them increased confidence and ideas to try out, but they may need your help to make the best use of this excellent little book. How can you help? It seems more difficult if you are singlehanded and have little time. It is vital to the efficient running of a self-governing Unit that regular Patrol Leaders, Councils and PL trainings are held. If you have no spare evenings, consider restricting the first meeting of each month, or half-term, to PL's only. The talking, planning together and facilita-ting of their ideas will more than pay dividends in the remaining weeks of the month or half term.

If you are not single handed, then your Assistant may be happy to cope with part of the evening occasionally, while you have the PL's together.

Fitness -People Service Outdoors > Home Chating ! quide Law 9 Promise

If you have no second room, have them at someone's house and go to the meeting later. In summer you could be outside. Well – couldn't you?

The Patrol Seconds will also will also. welcome the chance to be in charge, all previously arranged, of course. If the Patrols have already made suggestions, maybe at PL Council, and even decided their 'line of action' for a few weeks, then during this time together you can help them sort it all out into a workable whole, dovetailing ideas and giving practical aid where this seems either necessary or desirable. A little regular help is usually the most useful. Have you tried briefing the PL's at the beginning of the evening with such remarks as 'Elaine, will you notice how your two recruits deal with ...' or 'Melanie, try to include ...'? Then, while the Patrols with Seconds in charge clear up at the end, take a few minutes for a short evening evaluation session, and ask for their observations. It is worthwhile, over a period of time, to have the PL's for about ten minutes at the end to evaluate the evening while the others sing, play a game or just clear up. Include it in your planning. 'Was everyone in your Patrol interested in ...? Why was Rosalind so awkward ...? Could you think of a better way of ...? You will be amazed at the difference in the awareness of your PL's.

Try not to impose your wishes on the Patrols, or expect them to do everything together at the same time. PL's often like to try out ideas from the Handbook on each other to check their own skills and organising ability. Always be ready to help them arrange something, to teach a skill or help prepare a number of activities. Have a few ploys up your sleeve, or rather at the end of your programme book, and pat yourself on the back if they are not needed for weeks on end. Try not to spoon feed your PL's; if the Robins forget the matches and the sausages go unfried, let them go without, providing only the Robins are affected and there are no hungry Brownie Guides or visitors involved. They are more likely to remember next time.

Frequent checks on invividual and Patrol progress with the PL will help her to assess her own Patrol. It need only take about ten minutes per Patrol, and only one Patrol per week, so that over a month or so the whole Unit can be helped in this way. Perhaps you can plan ahead for five or six weeks and, during one of those weeks, arrange for a few Seconds to be in charge, so that you can help some PL's during the actual meeting rather than altogether. It is, of course, necessary for all the PL's to meet together to discuss Unit matters and learn from each other at intervals, but the job of training them does not seem so formidable or time consuming if you can think of it as a gradual task rather than a mammoth job done once during a long period.

Try it and see, then share your findings with the other Guiders in your District and so help each other, for any adult who can help another adult, or young person, is doing the job of training, and we all have something to give along these lines.

BROWNIE

Training Ideas

The Pocket Books

Leonora Wilson

SUPPOSE Pocket Book No 1 sells the best! It's so obviously and instantly useful in helping the new Brownie-to-be learn the words of the Promise and get some idea of its meaning. It helps with uniform too and of course, it is something for Mum to see. By working through the Pocket Book with the Brownie Guider or with Pack Leaders a little at a time, the new arrival can prepare herself for her Promise Ceremony and life as a Brownie. There's no doubt that Pocket Book No 1 fills the bill.

But what about Pocket Books 2, 3 and 4? Perhaps their usefulness is not quite so obvious, or perhaps we have used them and given up when the Brownies, in their zeal and enthusiasm, happily filled in every page, regardless of instructions. Or the books have gone home and never come back, having been grabbed by the baby or torn by the dog or covered with jam. Some books may have been safely kept in a pocket, only to end their days in the washing machine. So, is it worth struggling with Pocket Books? Yes, I think it is!

It is worth taking a little trouble to plan out the use and supervision of the Pocket Books. On my own copies I have put the letter W in the top right-hand corner of certain pages. Pack Leader copies these into other Pocket Books and when the Brownies receive them they are told that W means wait and they know that these pages will be dealt with at the Brownie Meeting. They find out too that they can have a lot of fun working out some of the ideas with other Brownies. The following are suggestions:

Book 2 – Brownies Keep Fit (pages 7 and 8): Toothbrushes and hands can be prepared at the Brownie Meeting and the Challenge completed at home.

Being Wide Awake (page 18): This can be the basis of a 'one handed' Challenge session.

Book 3 – Brownies Do Their Best (page 9): This can provide fun with codes, and games with secret messages can be devised.

Have A Try (page 19): This can start with Challenges at Brownies and be completed at home.

Book 4 — Brownies Make Things (page 11): This can produce a flurry of literary activity, and Fun out of Doors (page 20) can be preceded by compass activities with the Pack or just a group.

Some times, Brownies are 'stumped' with certain pages, and activities or games in the Pack can give ideas. The Lend a Hand in Book 2 (page 14) and Book 3 (page 15) can be put in a hat, then each Six draws out a name and acts a good turn using that object. Other Sixes could guess that object.

The Do Their Best page in Book 4 (page 8) is difficult for a Brownie to complete unaided. Write out about sixteen adjectives on separate cards, eg willing, neat, brave, reliable, and then devise some method of collecting them, such as searching for their hiding places or fishing them out of a pond with a magnet. When collected, the word BROWNIE GUIDE is made from the initial letters, and if there are too many adjectives, useful discussion can arise from the selection of the best one.

Some may say that the Brownies should fill in their Pocket Books unaided, but I have yet to meet a Brownie who can do that. In any case, there are still plenty of pages which the Brownies can complete themselves. Even so, they often enlist the aid of Mum or Dad while Pack Leader can be a useful ally. Brownies can get fun out of both methods.

It is perhaps better to use the Pocket

Books at intervals rather than every week. Sometimes, they will remain for safety in the Pocket Book Box in the Brownie Cupboard. At other times, they will go to and fro between home and the Brownie Meeting for several weeks,

It is worthwhile for the Brownies, Guider and her helpers to plan together how they will use the Pocket Books. Once a plan is made and put into operation, the newer Brownies will learn from the Guiders and the other Brownies how the Books are used, and once established the use of the Pocket Books will add colour, gaiety and satisfaction to the Brownie Meeting.

What gives you a warm, comfortable, good night's sleep and comes in bags?

'Terylene' fillings. Specially developed by ICI for sleeping bags,

And once you've made sure the sleeping bag you're buying has the 'Tervlene' label, you can relax.

Because then you'll know that you'll be warm and comfortable.

'Terylene' filled sleeping bags are light. They're washable. Mildew and rot proof. And because they come in a choice of four different filling weights, you'll get one that suits your needs exactly. From camping to sailing, mountaineering to caravanning. Or simply as a handy piece of instant bedding for the home.

So make sure the sleeping bag you buy has the 'Terylene' label, because then you'll know exactly what you're getting into.

"Terylene" and ICI Roundel are Registered Trademarks of ICI.

Background to World Conference

Our Delegation

At the 22nd World Conference, our working day will be from 8.45 am until 9.45 pm and will consist of a mixture of sessions and discussion groups attended by the whole delegation. We shall be seated as countries in alphabetical order, as in the United Nations and other inter-Simultaneous national meetings. translations and copies of all papers will be available in English, French and Spanish. Plenary sessions include Finance and the Thinking Day Fund, Privileges and Responsibilities of Members, Joint Activities and Girl Guide/Boy Scout relationships, one category of membership, a study of future World Conferences and reports from sub-committees, the four World Centres and the World Bureau. We will also make plans for the next triennium. Time is set aside for delegation meetings so that we can discuss how to vote in the light of any new information received at the Conference. The Conference theme is Spiritual and Moral Values', and will be presented by a group of young people prior to the discussion.

There are two closed sessions attended by the delegates only. These are to consider applications for membership of the World Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts and to elect the four new members of the World Committee. While these are in progress, the visitors can choose to attend discussion groups on topics such as 'WAGGGS and the World Today', 'Guiding for the girl, Training for the leader', and 'From here to the girl. The conference agenda was circulated in February, and these members of the delegation who were also at the 21st World Conference in Canada are kindly undertaking to work on certain topics into which they researched last time. The previous and past delegations are meeting to discuss the 22nd World Conference Agenda items and to put forward recommendations for the Executive Committee to discuss. In this way we are given guidance as to how to vote on behalf of you all. At first this may not seem a very representative method, but all kinds of ideas, points of view and actions from your Regions and Countries throughout the past Triennium are the basis of the thinking that goes on at the Executive Committee. Added to this is the information from trainers, the Departments at Headquarters and the reports from our representatives attending conferences, trainings and seminars at home and abroad.

Each Member Organisation has one vote and motions or amendments are carried by a simple majority, except for those relating to membership of the World Association, Finance and Amendments to the World Association Constitution and Byelaws that require a two-thirds majority vote. As a Full Member, the UK has a right to vote on all matters. Voting is either by a roll call vote and/or a show of hands, or, for decisions such as the venue for the next meeting of the World Conference and Election of the World Committee Members, by secret ballot. Daily bulletins and summaries keep us up to date on information.

Welcome periods of relaxation, when we can get to know the other delegations, will be at meal times, the visit to the 'Orbit '75' Camp, the allday programme arranged by the UK and ending with supper with the Guides on the way back, and an evening's home hospitality. In addition, it will be just as exciting for us as for our overseas friends when we accept the very gracious invitation of Her Majesty the Queen, to attend a reception at Buckingham Palace, and to have our President, HRH The Princess Margaret, officially open the Conference.

After the Conference, some of us will be going immediately to the Training Centres to help to welcome any overseas delegates who will be attending the trainings and activities there. We shall later compile a report for the Executive Committee and will be writing articles for Guider to keep you all informed of what went on at the Conference. We also hope that you will ask us to the Regions to talk to some of you. Some of us may also find that we have been elected to serve on Committees for the World Association, and in this way we shall continue to serve Guiding on a World level throughout the next three years. We are indebted to all of those who have helped to train us in so many ways in the past years, and will remember them with gratitude and affection as we do our best to carry forward the thinking that took place at Sussex, and to act on the decisions taken there on your behalf. Please spare us a little room in your prayers, to help us do credit to the ideals of the Founder.

Katheyn Benson - Evens

Dr Kathryn Benson Evans, Leader of the British Delegation.

BOOK REVIEWS REVIEWS REVIEWS

The Chief - the life story of Robert Baden-Powell by Elleen K Wade. Wolfe Publishing Ltd, 12.75.

There would have been no Scouts, no Guides, today, if B-P had not been the great and unique man he was, writes today's Chief Scout, Sir William Gladstone, in the foreword to The Chief, and perhaps it will be because they want to discover for themselves what kind of man the Founder was, and what his training methods were, that Guiders of the '70s will be keen to read this book. India, The Cape, Zululand, The South African War, A Second Life, are some of the chapter headings.

The author is Eileen Wade, who worked with the Founder for 27 years as his private secretary. This book was first published in 1924 under the title of The Piper of Pax; now Mrs Wade has revised it and added a chapter covering the period from 1924 until B-P's death in 1941. (Incidentally, if the book is re-printed, I hope two statements in the last chapter will be amended the Founder's wife was acclaimed World Chief Guide in 1930, not 1924, and the Queen of the Netherlands 15 the daughter, not the daughterin-law. of Oucen Wilhelmina.)

The Piper of Pax was illustrated with some of

B-P's drawings; the revised edition includes 32 excellent photographs.

HOW TO APPLY

Any Guider may apply herself to attend a training course at the Centres, provided she has reached the minimum age of 18 years. (At the discretion of the Commissioner a member aged 17½ who is working on the Adult Leader's Certificate may also apply for a Guider course.)

An application to attend a Guider Training Centre should be sent direct to the Guider-inappropriate Charge, and must be accomthe correct panied by amount of deposit and a stamped addressed envelope. Applicants should also state the type of training for which they are attending, as there may be several different courses running at any one weekend. As so many Guiders have to leave on Sunday, training sessions at a two-day weekend will stop at tea-time on that day unless otherwise stated, if sufficient notice is given that it is wanted, every effort will be made to provide sessions for a group until Monday. Individuals who are able to stay over until Monday to enjoy the surrounding country and other amenities of the Centres are most welcome to do so.

Telephone calls are accepted only between the hours of 8 am and 8 pm except in emergencies.

Bursary Help

The Fee Bursary entitles a Guider to a grant of £1.50 for a two-day weekend and 50p for each additional day.

The Fare Bursary (available only for travel to the nearest Training Centre) carries a rebate of a Guider's travel expenses in excess of £2.00.

The Angela Thompson Bursary is available to any Guider attending a Promise and Law or similar training (not necessarily at a Training Centre).

HOW TO APPLY: Full details of the conditions of issue and how to apply are available from the Training Department, CHQ. No application form is necessary, and District Commissioners may apply on behalf of their Guiders, after they have been accepted for the training, direct to the Training Department; Scottish Commissioners should write to Scottish Headquarters. In the case of county weekends Commissioners should apply to their County Training Chair-man/Adviser. Except in very special circumstances, on the recommendation of her Commissioner, a Bursary cannot be issued to a Guider who has previously had one, nor can one Guider receive a Fee and Fare Bursary.

Commissioners are asked not to apply for bursaries for Guiders able to get LEA grants.

All applications must arrive at CHQ at least TWO WEEKS BEFORE THE TRAINING and Bursaries cannot be issued at shorter notice or in retrospect.

Cool and refreshing

A dip in the cool water on a hot day is invigorating. Makes you feel alive and glad to have relief from summer's heat.

And having your monthly period doesn't interfere at all because you protect yourself with internally worn Tampax tampons. When properly inserted, they expand in three directions to fit the contours of your body and so provide you with highly absorbent protection.

You'll never feel the tampon. You'll always feel comfortable.

And you can swim whenever you like. No matter how warm the weather, you'll never have to sit it out at the edge of the pool.

Like a cool dip in the water, Tampax tampons help make summer a more pleasant experience.

If you really want to help, help the deaf.

The terrible thing about charity appeals is that they all seem so deserving, don't they? It seems so invidious to choose a few, and ignore so many. Maybe if the deaf were in some way visibly deformed they would appear more deserving. As it is, unless deafness is personally encountered, it takes considerable imagination to appreciate the horror of living a lifetime in silence.

Next time you encounter anyone, child or adult, who appears dull, dim-witted, or uncommunicative, consider for a moment that they might be deaf. If they are, then your very understanding is a real help. You see, the better you understand deafness, the better you'll understand the deaf.

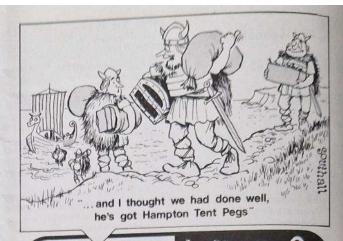

It's to helping people understand the deaf, and helping the deaf live with deafness, that the RNID devotes its resources. But only by means of donations, covenants and bequests can this work continue. Please give what you can to our funds.

To the deaf, more than any other afflicted people, actions really do speak louder than words.

WE'RE BROWNIE GUIDES

In November last year the County of Greater Manchester West put on two performances of their revue We're Brownie Guides. Over 2400 people saw the show, including the Lady Baden-Powell, seen left with the guard of honour. The choir of Brownies, Guides and Rangers (above) supported over 660 Brownies, who acted out the Eight Point Programme.

Brownies from the Urmston Division acted 'Brownies are Wide Awake' and included this realistic dragon (left) in the story of St George.

According to the Brownies from Eccles, Brownies have been keeping fit through the ages, as we can see from these Victorian girls (above). The performance was brought to a close by Brownies of Sale, helped by representatives from the other Divisions (left). The theme for their finale was 'This Wonderful World'.

DEPT 23 WESTFIELD HOUSE HELENA ST B HAM B1 2RJ

You WILL see that we are now the GGFF. It has been let for some time that the word ' Guide ' in the minds of public does not necessarily signify 'Girl Guides Association : There are other Guides (ie mountain guides) Association which may cause misunderstanding in people's minds. So which that we should be called Girl Guide Friendship Fund. Mutual Aid? From whom, to whom? The dictionary says the word mutual means 'felt or done by each to the other . The Mutual Aid Scheme of the World Association was started some years ago so that the needs of some countries might be made known to those who would like to help them. As a result many Guide Associations struggling to keep going have been greatly helped. These few extracts from letters seem to reflect the true value of both giving and receiving through Mutual Aid:

We feel much indebted to the Mutual Aid Scheme and hope one day we shall have the blessing of giving too.

k makes things happen where it could not possibly happen at all without the scheme.

while it would be quite easy to think of a few specific needs, the needs of other countries are quite likely to be greater than ours.

Perhaps any of us might have written the last quotation. In many Units it is the same story; 'Mandy hasn't brought er sub, tonight '; 'Sally's Mum says she can't afford to pay for her uniform '. We might get a message from the County Commissioner; 'The Quota is going up' or a note from the Vicar; 'Very sorry but the PCC have increased the rent of the hall, I'm afraid the Guides will have to pay

We come home from the Guide meeting thoroughly depressed, and then pick up Guider. Yes there it is, a stirring appeal on the GGFF page: 'Ghana urgently needs tents . . . El Salvador badly wants cooking pots and pans . Surinam cannot afford to print its enrolment cards . . But we want tents, we want camp cooking equipment, we want . .

The following week Sally's Patrol Leader came in waving Today's Guide. 'We must do something to raise some money for those poor Guides in El Salvador who haven't any pots and pans. Where is El Salvador?" They have an effort and raise money and joyfully purchase a postal order and send it off to the GGFF, because it's for somebody else and not for themselves.

And this is our problem, isn't it? To keep alive the joyous spirit of giving, so strong in the hearts of our members when they know someone else is in need, and at the same time to 'keep our own house in order'. The fact remains that people will sponsor an effort, when a Guide or Brownie is working for a good cause, far more willingly than if they are appealing for their own funds.

Last year was an exceptional year with every Brownie out to do her best for Diamond Jubilee Year, and raising fantastic sums of money for many good causes, including the Lifeboats and Handicapped Brownies. We cannot expect another record year, we do not ask for it. But we do believe that in many, many instances 'the needs of other countries are likely to be greater than ours And these are just a few of the needs asked for in the Mutual Aid list: Surinam - 1,000 enrolment cards for Brownies. El Salvador - four eight-man tents (they have never had tents and have only 'camped' in houses and never had the joy of real camping), and Cooking Equipment for Camp. Ivory Coast - a Sewing Workshop for the older Guides and Rangers to learn dressmaking and embroidery, so helping them to make their own clothes and later earn a living, in a country where this, for girls, is not easy. Surinam sets of gardening tools. The girls can then be taught and encouraged to grow vegetables at home, and so contribute to the national agricultural and horticultural schemes. Zambia - a Sewing Workshop. Ghana - six Stormhaven Tents.

And so in this World Conference Year here in the UK it does seem fitting that we should do our best to give what we can afford to help our Guide and Brownie friends in other Member Countries of the World Association.

An Information Sheet all about the Girl Guide Friendship Fund, and Stickers are sent FREE to Guiders who would like them. Please send a 5½p stamp for postage. Requests and DONATIONS should be addressed to: Girl Guide Friendship Fund, Girl Guides Association, 17/19 Buckingham Palace Road, London SW1W OPT.

World Children's Day 15th June

HE United Nations Children's Fund is asking our support on World Children's Day this year for its work to mprove the health and education of children in the Yemen Arab Republic, one of the poorest countries of the world, and, unlike many other Arab states, without any oil resources. Ninety per cent of the people are illiterate and a shortage of trained manpower is one of the greatest Obstacles to its development. In some areas infant mortality is 46 per cent, mostly due to polluted water and bad sanitation compounded with malnutrition.

UNICEF is helping to provide safe water supplies to Yemeni villages. The pipe down this primitive street is of vital importance since it brings safe water to a central place in the village. Before, every day the women would walk with their water pots on their heads, sometimes many miles to the nearest well to get clean water, or buy it expensively from the donkey tank carts. A source of safe water acts too as a spur to growth in other ways; the opening of a school where the appalling problem of illiteracy can be tackled, or the opening of a rural dispensary where mothers and children can get treatment when they are sick, and instruction in nutrition and hygiene. The two young women on the right in this photograph are home visiting nurses.

Please encourage your Guides and Brownies to help the children of the Yemen Arab Republic on World Children's Day this year. Further information from the UK, Committee for UNICEF, 99 Dean Street, London W1V 6QN
